

2 Two hours or less of leisure screen time

Limiting screen time is not only good for our eyes, but also for our mental health. Often times we use leisure screen time to zone out and put off other tasks. Limiting screen time can decrease feelings of loneliness and isolation by allowing us to have time to form meaningful connections with others.