Someone would need to operate the camera if they wanted to project on the big screen. Jolynn Meza Wynkoop noted she could go ahead of time and check everything out if needed.

- JoAnn Miller – We can look at going the day before the summit on August 24, 2023, to the Center for Health Education and test out all the rooms and bring up the different presentations to make sure everything works correctly. Shelley Hazelton will check with Kathy Brier to see if some people can come over the afternoon of August 24th to test everything out at around 2:00 p.m.

  - a. Dr. Jeannie Davis agreed to facilitate the panel.
  - b. “Yes,” we do want questions ahead of time for the panel. The panelist could provide a brief introduction of themselves, provide an overview of their services, and answer posed questions.
  - c. Questions for consideration could include:
    - What does a whole approach to health mean to you?
    - When we talk about diversity, equity, and inclusion, what do you see as a service and how are you reaching marginalized populations.
    - What are solutions you see as working to reach youth more effectively in our communities?
    - What is missing in our communities for youth population and marginalized groups?
- We are limited to 72 people for the main conference rooms. To date we have 48 people registered.
- JoAnn Miller – Did a big push with Samaritan Health Services (SHS) to post information on the summit on the SHS Insider and our external website.

Will solicit feedback once finished. Will also send a copy to Luis Acosta to translate into Spanish. Do we want one program with a combined program in English and Spanish or two separate programs.
  - a. It was agreed to have one program.
- Sommer McLeish – Can we have the evaluation as an insert in the booklet?
  - a. Jolynn Meza Wynkoop – Will have a paper option for the evaluation and QR code option as well and can insert the paper option in the booklet.

- Luis Acosta – Will have two interpreters at the summit. One will include his daughter who will interpret from Spanish to English during his workshop.
- Will ask Luis Acosta to translate anything we have printed for the summit into Spanish.

- Jolynn Meza Wynkoop – Do we want to bring the CCCWN marketing materials, like the sign, pens, etc. to the summit?
  - a. JoAnn Miller – Yes.
- Beatriz Botello-Salgado – Could we send the recipes to attendees – Is a way to advertise? Will have three Food Hero recipes.
  - a. Jolynn Meza Wynkoop – Could include the recipes in the program.
  - b. Beatriz Botello-Salgado – “Yes,” that would be a great option.
  - c. JoAnn Miller - Did we need to shop for the supplies for the cooking demonstration or will Samaritan Health Services be invoiced.
